GIRL HELD FOR COURT ACTION

Charge Made Against Helen Geiselman in Connection With Death of Child.

THREE WITNESSES CALLED

Coroner Crist, Dr. Henry Stewart and Private Frank Goucher relate findings in case.

Helen Geiselman, charged with killing her newly born male child on April 19 at the Warner Hospital where she was employed as a nurse, was given a hearing this morning before Justice of the Peace J. L. Hill in the county jail. She was held for the action of the county grand jury.

There were few new details brought out in the case. The only witnesses called were Dr. C. G. Crist, coroner of Adams county; Dr. Henry Stewart, pathologist at the Warner Hospital, who made the post-mortem examination of the infant's body, and Frank B. Goucher, of the State Police, who received from Miss Geiselman two signed confessions admitting she was the mother of the child and that she had killed it. These confessions were admitted as evidence.

Miss Geiselman was present at the hearing, but displayed no marked interest in the examination of witnesses. On several occasions she talked with John D. Keith, Esq., and J. Donald Swops, Esq., who represent her. District Attorney Raymond Topper conducted the examination for the State.

Dr. Crist told of being called to the Mehrling farm, west of town on the evening of April 23 and of the finding of the body of a child in a drain pipe. He described the finding of newspapers about the pipe opening and on the child, one of which papers bore the address, "Miss Helen M. Geiselman, (Continued on Second Page)

AGED MAN FOUND DEAD IN HIS HOME

John Miller, of East Berlin, Found by Neighbors Sitting at Table in Kitchen.

John Miller, an aged resident of East Berlin, was found dead in a chair in the kitchen of his home at that place early Monday morning. He was alone at his home at the time and had evidently been dead since Saturday evening when he was last seen. His wife went to Hanover the latter part of last week for a few days' visit with their daughter, Mrs. Milton Brown. Neighbors noted that everything was unusually quiet about the house and that Mr. Miller had not been seen stirring since Saturday, and determined to make an investigation. His body was then found. Word was at once sent to Mrs. Miller at Hanover informing her of the death of her husband.

Four neighbors, Bert Jacobs, David Border, Clinton Cashman, and Martin Blocher, forced their way into the house. They found the aged man sitting by a table in the kitchen. Before him was an unfinished plate of melted ice cream. Death had apparently come very suddenly to Mr. Miller while he was in the act of partaking of the cream and was probably due to acute indigestion. Dr. Eugene Elgin, East Berlin, was at once summoned. He judged the deceased to have been dead since Saturday evening. He was last seen about sundown on that day.

Mr. Miller was about 85 years of age and had been living retired for some years. He was formerly in charge of construction work on the turnpike out of East Berlin. Mrs. Milton Brown, Hanover, is the only surviving child.

FIRST YEAR MEN HOLD BANQUET

Attempt Made by Sophomores to Detain Freshmen Officers Frustrated.

RULES WERE DISREGARDED

In Spite of Precedent Governing Annual Affair, Successful Gathering is Held in Hotel Gettysburg.

Once again this year the Freshman class of college emerged victors in an annual fray with their well known, time-worn rivals, the Sophomores, when they launched the most successful freshman banquet in the history of the college at the Hotel Gettysburg Monday evening.

Incidentally this is another big event in the history of the freshman class, since they succeeded in holding the Sophomore class football team to a scoreless tie last fall.

It is an annual custom for the two lower classes of college to each year have a banquet and by reason of the priority of age, it has always been custom for the Sophomores to hold the first feast. Then, when the yearlings have their banquet, there is a determined effort by the second year men to prevent as many from attending as possible. In former years this (Continued on Fourth Page)

CELEBRATION AT CHRIST CHURCH

Littlestown Reformed Church Observed 175th Anniversary of Organization.

PASTOR IS A VETERAN

The Rev. Dr. F. S. Lindaman Will Celebrate 50th Anniversary of Ordination Into Ministry on June 6.

Christ church, near Littlestown, the mother church of all Reformed churches in this vicinity, observed the one hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of its organization at the morning services Sunday. A large audience was present to hear an interesting and inspiring address by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. F. S. Lindaman, who has served this charge for the past 36 years. There are about 600 members on the roll at the present time. The clergyman's talk covered a summary of the history and activities of this noted and influential congregation.

Taking his text from the tenth verse of the fourth chapter of Zachariah, "Who has despised the day of small things?" Dr. Lindaman showed how great and lasting results may come from insignificant beginnings and urged the younger generation to carry forward the work begun by their forefathers with such high spiritual foresight.

Early Settlers Formed Nucleus

The nucleus of Christ church was formed by early settlers who met for worship in the first schoolhouse of the vicinity. Here on May 4, 1747, first communion was administered by the Rev. Michael Schlader, who was sent out by the early Dutch Reformed church to organize a branch in this part of the new world.

Emmanuel church, Hanover, was the first offspring of the parent church. This church was the first house of (Continued on Third Page)

IMPROVEMENTS TO HOTEL

Front and Side of Gettysburg Hotel To Be Reconstructed.

Work was started this morning on remodeling the exterior of Hotel Gettysburg. A force of men are erecting scaffolding preliminary to removing the old stucco plaster and refinishing the entire front and Carlisle street side of the building.

The walls will be finished with a rough cast of marble and granite which is expected to be one of the prettiest and neatest finishes obtainable.

With the remodeling of the outside and the inside having already undergone complete renovation during the winter, the statement of the officials of the company last December, that everything would be done to have the hotel in condition to accommodate the large numbers of tourists that are expected in Gettysburg this summer, is borne out.

The fact that the Hotel Gettysburg Company is going ahead with improvements in the face of the recent talk of the new hotel project in Gettysburg, points to probable suspension of the new hotel project. It further spikes rumors to the effect that those behind the new hotel had secured options of the purchase of the Hotel Gettysburg property.

The general appearance of the square will be greatly improved by the work on the hotel building. The present structure was remodeled in 1912 when the present stucco work was put on. Ordinarily stucco finishing is good for forty or fifty years.

The Art Stucco Company, of York, have charge of the work and expect to be finished by the 25th of May in time for the Memorial Day crowds.

ARRIVED AFTER NOON

General Smedley D. Butler, commandant of the Marine Corps at Quantico, Virginia, arrived in Gettysburg by automobile at one o'clock this afternoon with his chief of staff, Colonel T. Holcomb, preparatory to making his survey of a location for the proposed ten-day camp which the Marines are planning here from June 25 to July 5. They registered at the Hotel Gettysburg.

The vanguard of the General's party arrived by aeroplane at 11:10 this morning from the Marine flying grounds at Quantico. After encircling the town, the machine landed on the Codori farm not far from the Emmitsburg road. In this party were Major R. S. Geiger, Captain J. E. Davis and Captain W. Williams.

While General Butler is looking for a suitable place on which Marines will encamp, Major Geiger is expected to determine a suitable landing place for the squadron of aeroplanes which will accompany the Marines to Gettysburg. The aviation officers expect to return to Quantico late this afternoon after the survey is completed, while General Butler and his staff officer will remain here over night.

FILE DISSOLUTION ORDER

(By Associated Press) New York, May 9.—Federal Judge Rodgers, Hough and Manton, today filed a dissolution order against the American Sugar Refining Company and other corporate and individual defendants in the Government Sherman suit begun 12 years ago.

During the 12 year wait, caused in a large part by a decision as to a wage ruling of the United States Supreme Court in the Steel and Harvester Trust cases, the defendant corporations in the Sugar Trust case have "abandoned their connections and conspiracy to restrain trade and commerce and to monopolize the basis of manufacturing and dealing in refined sugar," said the decree.

The judges sitting as an expediting court held, however, that at the time testimony in the case was heard enough of the allegations in the Government's petition were proved to entitle it to a dissolution order.

BANKER BURIED WITHOUT POMP

Men And Women of International Prominence in World of Finance And Society Present.

DEEP MOURNING ABSENT

Last Wish of Henry P. Davison Regarded by Family. Service Also Unostentatious in Nature.

(By Associated Press)

Locust Valley, N. Y., May 9.—Men and women of international prominence in the world of finance and society bowed heads with plain villagers in a common grief at the bier of Henry P. Davison, financier, philanthropist and head of the American Red Cross during the World War, who died here Saturday.

The little ivy-covered chapel of St. John's at Laughton was crowded and many hundreds unable to gain admittance stood silently outside.

The last wishes of Mr. Davison were fulfilled. Members of his family although dressed in black did not wear deep mourning. The services were as unostentatious as possible. Ten trucks carried the floral tributes from the home to the church. These tributes came from civic and financial organizations with which the banker had been connected.

In only one respect did friends of the dead man not heed his plea. That was in the matter of flowers.

STATE SEEKS EXPLANATION

Apparently $25,000 in Cash Missing From Treasurer's Account.

(By Associated Press)

Harrisburg, May 9.—Auditor General Samuel S. Lewis today sent to Attorney General George C. Alter a report certified by public accountants that unless there is some record that has not been submitted or some explanation not disclosed "there apparently existed as of April 30, 1921, a cash shortage of $25,895.38 in the state treasury of Pennsylvania. There was nothing in the report to indicate a shortage exists today.

According to the report the books of the treasurer as of April 30, 1921, showed that the amount had gone into the depositories of the state but were not accounted for as having been received on the records of the treasury department. The money was recorded as having been received on May 9 and 19, 1921, after a new state treasurer took office. Harmon M. Kephart was state treasurer until May, 1921. "As part of the receipts in question consisted of cash it would have been possible with this practice," the report stated, "to use for private purposes funds belonging to the state, such withholdings being subsequently made up by later deposits. Today's report is the second the auditor general has sent Attorney General Alter, the first dealing with alleged discrepancies in the state treasurer's statement of bank deposits and the reports of banks in 1917 to 1921, some banks showing more money on deposit and some less than the treasurer's statement. Attorney General Alter submitted the first report to former state supreme court justice E. J. Fox, of Easton, for investigation.

FRANCE WILL NOT RECOGNIZE SOVIET

Policy of France Revealed by High Official is to Wait For American Initiative.

SOVIETS ALSO WAITING

Hope Has Been Lost in Paris of Making an Agreement With The Russians.

Paris, May 9.—"France," said a high official of the Government today, "will not recognize the Russian Soviet Government until the United States does."

"France has kept a free hand in this matter, and it makes no difference what action the Genoa Conference may take."

"The recognition of the Soviet regime," he added, "will have to wait until it has proven its good faith in keeping international engagements and shown itself a representative Government."

There is no longer hope in official circles of an agreement with the Russians at Genoa, according to this official, who predicted that the Russian attitude would become more and more uncompromising as their chances of obtaining an immediate loan in cash from the Governments diminished.

No More Conferences.

He expressed the view, however, that the Genoa Conference had done some good work, and said the results achieved by the economic and financial commissions were generally acceptable to France.

Propositions from the Soviet representatives for other conferences to follow that at Genoa, to be held at Prague or elsewhere, are not favored by the French Government. It was learned from the same source that France would insist that the situation be cleared by the usual diplomatic negotiations before again attending a meeting to discuss questions of such importance as those dealt with at Genoa.

Russians Waiting.

Genoa, May 9.—It will be impossible for Russia to answer the Allied memorandum until she has found out exactly what Powers stand behind the document and what real authority it has. M. Litvinoff of the Russian delegation declared to the Associated Press Monday afternoon.

"We really have no official advice as to the exact position of France and Belgium," M. Litvinoff explained, "and naturally we must know definitely the position of those two Powers before we make reply."

"Until we get a definite written reply on this subject we cannot submit a formal answer to the memorandum."

BROTHER OF MOB VICTIM HANGED

Negro's Body Found Suspended From Limb of Tree.

Fort Worth, Texas, May 9.—The body of a negro, Tom Cornish brother of John Cornish one of the victims in the Kirvin mob Saturday morning, was found hanging to a tree limb yesterday by a farmer residing near Kirvin. Officers at Teague were informed by telephone.

Sheriff Mayo of Limestone county said that he knew nothing of the circumstances of the hanging of Cornish.

"Our office was notified yesterday morning that Cornish had been found hanging to a limb in the pasture at his farm," he added. "We responded to the call and cut the body down." Cornish was a farmer.

State Troops Sent

Austin, Texas, May 9.—Governor Neff yesterday ordered two detachments of State rangers to be sent immediately to Fairfield, county seat of Freestone county, to prevent an uprising of negroes which Sheriff W. M. Mayo of Freestone county said was imminent. The sheriff in a message said the negroes were threatening to avenge the death of the three negroes who were burned at Kirvin Saturday morning.

That the race situation in Freestone county was becoming critical was the information given to Adjutant General Barton in a telephone message yesterday afternoon from a deputy sheriff of that county. General Barton replied that a sufficient force of rangers to handle the situation was departing for Fairfield.

A. M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa.

Miss Geiselman told him and Dr. J. McCrea Dickson that the baby belonged to her and she had put its body in the pipe, Dr. Crist declared. He added she was in a highly nervous state.

Dr. Stewart was then called and he gave his findings determined by a post-mortem examination of the child's body. His main deductions were contained in four statements as follows:

First, that the child was born alive. Second, that the cause of death was probably strangulation and a blow on the back of the head with other violence.

Third, that the time the body was found was certainly within 24 hours and probably not more than 12 hours after the birth of the child.

Fourth, that the length of life was very brief.

Other details of the report of the doctor were given to the stenographer to incorporate in the evidence. Dr. Stewart was cross-examined by Mr. Kieth as to how he reached the conclusions he reported. He expressed certainty that the child was born alive.

Mr. Goucher told of his interview with Miss Geiselman on April 25 at the house on the Mehring farm. He said she at first denied knowledge of the baby. Later in the day she told him she had decided to make a clean breast of the matter. The officer declared she told him the child was born at the Warner Hospital Wednesday afternoon, April 19, about 3 o'clock and that the child lived about 20 minutes.

The child cried all the time during its life, Mr. Goucher said. She told him, and that it had died from a loss of blood due to the fact that she was not able to care for it properly because she had an infected hand. She stated, he said, that after death she wrapped it in papers, put it in a hand bag and placed it under her bed, where it remained until she left the hospital at 11 o'clock the morning of April 22. She was taken to the Mehring farm she told Mr. Goucher, the witness testified, and that at 10 o'clock the morning of the 23d, while the family was at church, she took the child to the drain pipe, 150 yards from the house and deposited it there.

On April 26 Mr. Goucher said he went to the hospital, when Miss Elizabeth Thomas, superintendent, called him on the telephone and told him Miss Geiselman wanted to see him. At that time, Mr. Goucher said, Miss Geiselman signed the four-word confession which read, "I killed my baby." The officer said, she told him she also struck the child's head on the edge of the bed. It was brought out in the cross examination of Mr. Goucher that Miss Geiselman did not say she had intentionally strangled or struck the child.

"Self-preservation is the first law of nature," quoted the Wise Guy. "And the average woman seems to think that lying about her age will do the trick," replied the Simple Mug.

GENERAL REFUSES TO LEAVE PEKING

Declares in Answer to Order of Powers, He is Acting Governor of Chi-Li.

JAPS CHECK ADVANCE

Arms Given up by Manchurian Soldiers Near German Concession. Governor Starts Hostilities.

Tientsin, May 9.—General Wu-Pei-Fu, who came to Tientsin from Peking in pursuit of the Manchurian General Chang Tso-Lin, was ordered Sunday by the Allied military commanders here to leave the city, as his presence was held to be in violation of the 1901 protocol. He refused to leave on the ground that he was Acting Governor of Chihli province and would remain as long as necessary for his purposes.

The bridges between this city and Taku, on the south side of the Hun river estuary, were burned by the retreating members of Chang Tso-Lin's army. Two thousand of Chang's soldiers were reported Sunday in Tangku, on the north side of the river, where their demands for trains to convey them to Mukden were fruitless, no locomotives being available. Frequent attempts at telephonic communication with Tangku Sunday night were unsuccessful.

Halted By Japanese.

Should Wu accede to the Allied demands to leave he would have to move back toward Peking, as rail communication to the east and north has been severed by the burning of the bridges and a Japanese destroyer is preventing the dispatch of his forces down the river in barges. The situation, therefore is that, while Chang Tso-Lin had uninterrupted use of the Mukden Railway for two weeks during his offensive operations, his pursuer is now unable to use the road to complete his victory.

British Send Gunboat.

A tug conveying the commander of the British cruiser Curlew to this city Sunday came between the hostile troops on river banks who were firing continuously. The British gunboat Marazion was sent down river, to convey the tug here.

Numbers of Manchurian soldiers were discovered Sunday night south of the former German concession here. American and Chinese guards, armed with a machine gun were ready to beat off any attempt at invasion, but the men proved quiet docile, and are reported to have agreed to lay down their arms if given food.

Attacked In South.

Hankow, May 9.—The Peking-Hankow Railway north of Kwang-shui has been cut and it is reported that Chao Ti, Military Governor of the province of Honan, has started hostilities against the forces of Wu Pei-Fu.

Fighting was proceeding Monday at Sinyangchow, 100 miles north of here, and some occurred Sunday at Cheng-Chow.

The above dispatch would indicate that Wu-Pei-Fu, while successful in his campaign against the Manchurian general, Chang-Tso-Lin, in the vicinity of Peking, was being attacked from the south, Cheng-Chow, the northernmost point mentioned in the dispatch, is in Honan province, about 400 miles southwest of Peking on the Peking-Hankow railway.

Chao Ti has been Governor of Honan since June, 1916. He was born in 1870 and educated in the Peiyang Military Academy.

BOY RAN AWAY FROM HOME

Later Taken in Charge by Police at Columbia.

"I am leaving home for good," was the brief message found on a piece of paper and written by Menges C. Miller, a 15-year-old boy and found by his father, J. Harry Miller, a farmer residing about one mile from New Oxford early Monday morning, May 1. The boy who is very small for a lad of that age, had prior to that time given no intimation of his intention to leave home, and the anxiety of the father can well be imagined until he received word that the little fellow was being detained by the police at Columbia.

According to the boy's story he had fully made up his mind to leave the "old homestead" and go out into the world for work. Dressed in his Sunday clothes and with a little money in his pocket the boy walked to Hanover where he took the trolley for York. Unable to get a job in that city, on Wednesday, he started again on the road walking to Columbia, where he met another boy and the two little fellows went down along the river to "talk things over." They were then apprehended by a policeman who at once took them before the chief. When the Miller lad faced the big officer, he broke down and confessed that he ran away from his home near New Oxford. The Chief of Police at once got in touch with his father who brought his son home Thursday evening.

HOUSE DEMOCRATS ATTACK BUDGET

Declare Analysis Shows Claim of Saving $136,000,000 to be Plainly Deceptive.

Washington, D. C., May 9.—Sharp Democratic attacks were made in the House yesterday on the report by Director Dawes of the Budget Bureau, transmitted to the Appropriations Committee by President Harding, setting forth reductions in Government expenditures.

Representative Byrnes of Tennessee, ranking Democrat on the committee, who has asked for specific information in a resolution, charged that careful analysis of the report showed that the figures were "plainly deceptive," and that they had been manipulated in an effort to mislead the public into the belief that some economy has been effected by the Administration.

Joining the attack, Representative Byrnes, Democrat, of South Carolina also a member of the Appropriations Committee, declared that if the President had had an opportunity to examine "the itemized statement of alleged savings, constituting the total of $136,000,000, he would discover that it is pure bunk."

Quibbling, Says Mondell

Defending the report, Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican leader, asserted that Mr. Byrnes (Tenn.) was "quibbling" as to details of savings effected, and that "some of the economies has resulted quite as much from the activities of Congress as from the activities of the budget bureau director."

Chairman Madden of Appropriations Committee said "somebody had raised the question of veracity," and that while Mr. Byrnes had mentioned deficiency estimates for this year of $447,000,000, it was a fact that only $12,000,000 of this total could be attributed to the Harding Administration, the balance being a hang-over.

Mr. Byrnes enlisted the proceedings, however, by informing the House that Director Dawes had claimed a saving of $25,000 on "the salaries of Congressmen," and then asked if they could say where.

INVITE PRESIDENT TO OPENING

Asked To Officiate At Ceremonies Of Exposition.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 9.—President Harding will be formally invited to officiate at the ceremonies in honor of the dedication of the Fairmount Park-Parkway site for the Sesqui-centennial by a committee headed by Mayor Moore, Governor Sproul and United States Senator George Wharton Pepper.

Every effort will be made to insure the President's presence, as it is contended that his participation is necessary to gain nation-wide publicity for the event, upon which it is felt the success of the exposition will depend in no small measure.

The dedicatory ceremonies are scheduled for the Fourth of July, but if it is found that the President will be unable to visit Philadelphia on that day, a date will be set that will suit his convenience.

Preliminary arrangements for the affair were made yesterday at a business-like meeting of the committee in charge in Council's Finance chamber. In addition to 50 citizens, the committee consists of the entire membership of Council. President Weglein presided and soon after the session opened was named permanent chairman of the committee, with Durell Shuster, secretary.

Decide To Invite President.

Suggestion that a great pageant depicting the city's progress be held in conjunction with the exercises was made by President Weglein. Councilman Hall opposed this idea, pointing out that affairs of this type and big parades have always proved a failure here when held on Independence day, because of the great number of community celebrations, the heat, family reunions and out-of-town excursions. Mr. Hall declared that the only way to make certain the success of the ceremonies is to have President Harding present.

DISCUSS RATES AT DINNER

(By Associated Press) Washington, May 9.—Fifteen of the leading railroad executives of the country have been invited to a dinner conference May 20 at the White House to discuss rate adjustments. The Inter-state Commerce Commission which recently concluded an inquiry into general transportation levels has reported to President Harding it was stated today at the White House, that it does not possess authority under the law to determine the general policy involved in rate readjustments.

PRESIDENT FIRM ON BONUS

Washington, May 9.—Views of President Harding on the soldier bonus legislation described today at the White House as unchanged, will be transmitted within the next two days to Chairman McCumber and Republican members of the senate finance committee.

TO FATTEN POULTRY

Fattening broilers previous to selling them for the market can be made a paying proposition, County Agent Paul Hoffman points out. If the broilers are going to be sold direct to a huckster, at a curb market or sold dressed, there are good profits in fattening. It usually does not pay to fatten broilers and then ship them alive for any distance, as the loss on the birds in the soft fatty condition is too great.

A good fattening ration can be made of two pounds corn meal, one pound ground oats, one pound wheat shorts (preferably a low grade flour) and eight pounds buttermilk. The best way to feed this is to confine the birds either in crates or houses which above all things must be cool. Feed this mixture only in amounts that the birds will consume in twenty minutes twice a day. Since this mixture will pour readily, water is not necessary unless the weather is exceptionally hot. Feeding longer than ten days is rarely profitable as the birds go "off feed" soon after that length of time.

RUSSIAN PROBLEM UP

Economic Conference Developing Along Lines Set by United States.

(By Associated Press) Washington, May 9.—A discussion of the Russian problem as it is affected by the negotiations at Genoa occupied most of today's session of the cabinet.

It developed an opinion that the attitude of the Allied governments toward the Soviet regime has shaped up at Genoa in virtual agreement with the policies of the United States.

After the cabinet meeting it was said by administration officials that there had been a general agreement among cabinet members that the work now proceeding at Genoa was going forward largely along lines which had been previously laid down by the State Department. By the same administration spokesmen a hope was expressed that the solution of the whole problem which could be endorsed by this government might be reached at Genoa. It was added that should the conference fail the United States would have to go ahead independently in adjusting its relations with Russia.

BEGINNING TO SPLUTTER

It would have been uncommonly jolly to have had Bright Effie as companion on the walks, and once or twice he did. But Mabel showed very clearly that this was very far from having her approval and on the second occasion said so. There was the slightest possible little tiff about it; and thenceforward—the subject having been opened—there were frequent little passages over Effie, arising always out of his doing what Mabel called "forever sticking up for her." How frequent they were, and how much they annoyed Mabel, he did not realize until, in the midst of a sticking up for her scene, Mabel surprisingly announced, "Well, anyway I'm sick and tired of having you always sticking up for her, and I'm going to get rid of her—tomorrow."

"But, Mabel—what will her people think?" "I'm sure I don't care what they think. If you're so concerned about the precious girl, I'll tell her mother that I was going to make other arrangements in any case and that as this was your last week we thought we'd like to be alone together. Will that satisfy you?" "I hope it will satisfy them. And I hope very much indeed that you don't do it."

VII
But she did do it. On the following day Effie left. Sabre, pretending to know nothing about it, went for a long walk all day. When he returned Effie was gone. He said nothing. Her name was not again mentioned between him and Mabel. It happened that only the reference to her sudden departure in which he was concerned was with Twynning. Setting out on his return to France his orders were to join a Fusilier battalion, reporting to 34th Division—he found Twynning on the platform at Tidborough station buying a paper.

"Hallo, old man," said Twynning. "Just off? I say, old man, old man, old Bright's very upset about Effie getting the sack from your place like that. How was it?"

Twynning was looking keenly at him. "But a bit sudden wasn't it? I mean to say, I thought you were on such friendly terms with the girl. Why, only a couple of days before she left I saw you with her having tea in the cloister tea rooms."

"Yes, I remember; we were waiting for my wife."

"Oh, yes, waiting for your wife, were you?" Twynning appeared to be thinking. "Well, that's what I mean, old man. She's seeing you off, I suppose?"

"No, she's not. She's not too well. Got a rotten cold."

Twynning stared again. "Oh, I'm sorry, old man. Well, you'll want to be getting in. I'll tell old Bright what you say about Effie. I quite understand. Seemed a bit funny at first, that's all. Goodbye, old man. Jolly good luck."

He put out his hand and squeezed Sabre's in his intensely friendly grip; and destiny put out its hand and added another and a vital hour to Sabre's ultimate encounter with life.

VIII
His leave ended with one thing utterly unexpected and flagrantly impossible. Arriving in London about nine, he stood on a street refuge to let by, cab coming out if the station. As it passed he saw its occupants—two women; and one saw him—Nona! Of all incredible things, Nona!

—a dashed funny business, the position old Puzzlehead Sabre has got himself into.

"Look here, this is April, April, 1918. Well, old Sabre got knocked out in France just about five months ago, back in November. He copped it twice—shoulder and knee. Shoulder nothing much; knee pretty bad. Thought they'd have to take his leg off, one time. Thought better of it, thanks be, patched him up; discharged him from the army; and sent him home—very croaky, only just able to put the bad leg to the ground, crutches, and going to be a stick and a bit of limp all his life."

"Very well. That's as he was when I first saw him again. That was back in February. Early in February, two months ago. There was good old me down in Tidborough on business—and remembering about old Sabre having been wounded and discharged, blew into Fortune, East and Sabre's for news of him."

"Of course he wasn't there. Saw old Fortune and the man Twynning and found them in regard to Sabre about as genial and communicative as a maiden aunt over a married sister's new dress. Sort of handed out the impression that he'd been out of the business so long that really they weren't much in touch with his doings. Rather rotten, I thought it, seeing that the poor beggar had done his bit in the war and done it pretty thoroughly, too."

"Well, I hopped it over on the railway and walked down to old Sabre's. Found him a bit down the road from his house trying out this game leg of his. By Jove, he was no end bucked to see me. And talk! He simply jabbered. I said, 'By Jove, Sabre, one would think you hadn't met anyone for a month the way you're unbelling the sacred rites of welcome.' He laughed and said, 'Well, you see, I'm a bit tied to a post with this leg of mine.'"

IX
On the following morning he crossed to France, there to take up again that strange identity in whose occupancy his own self was held in abeyance, waiting his return. Seven months passed before he returned to that waiting identity and he resumed it then permanently—done with the war. The tremendous fighting of 1917—his participation in the war—his tenacity in the strange personality caught up in the enormous machinery of it all—ended for him in the great break through of the Hindenburg Line in November. On top of a recollection of sudden shock, then of whirling giddiness in which he was conscious of some enormous violence going on but could not feel it—like (as he afterwards thought) beginning to come to in the middle of a tooth extraction under gas—on the top of these and of extraordinary things and scenes and people he could not at all understand came someone saying:

"I GOT KNOCKED OUT, DIDN'T I?"

"Well, it's goodbye to the war for you, old man."

He knew that he was aware—and somehow for some time had been aware—that he was in a cot in a ship. He said, "I got knocked out, didn't I?"

Someone was telling him some interminable story about someone being wounded in the shoulder and in the knee. He said, and his voice appeared to him to be all jumbled up and thick, "Well, I don't care a damn." Someone laughed.

from the summit of Barlow's Knoll. It will mark the spot where the famous general was standing when he was hit by a bullet which at first was thought to have inflicted a mortal wound.

Colonel Stegman this morning gave a short sketch of General Barlow's life, which follows:

"Francis C. Barlow was born in the city of Brooklyn, New York, in the year 1835, and after finishing a course in the public schools, entered Harvard University. He later studied law and was a successful practicing physician in New York City when the hostilities began between the North and the South."

"He enlisted as a private for three months in the 12th New York regiment, which was one of the first to reach Washington after the President's call for volunteers. At Washington, Mr. Barlow was raised to the rank of Lieutenant and later was raised to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel with the 61st New York Infantry."

"Later he became Colonel of that regiment and served in that capacity during the Peninsular campaign. During the battle of Antietam he was severely wounded but recovered and upon rejoining his regiment was raised to the rank of Brigadier-General."

"In the Battle of Gettysburg, General Barlow commanded the extreme right of the Union line and took up his vantage point on the hill now known as Barlow's Knoll. He was wounded here in the hip. At first it was thought that it was a mortal wound. He recovered, however, and was with General Grant at Appomattox Court House at the conclusion of the war."

"General Barlow went back to New York city and resumed his practice of law. He died at the age of 62 years. At the time of the battle here, General Barlow was one of the youngest men in command of a corps, being but 28 years old."

With the Monument commissioners who are making their headquarters at the Eagle Hotel are Mrs. L. R. Stegman and Mrs. Blesner.

BIG CUT IN USE OF OPIUM

Estimated Consumption is Now Five Grains.

According to announcement by the State Department of Health Monday its experts have figured out that five grains of opium or its derivatives would be about all needed for each person in Pennsylvania a year. Five years ago an average of twenty four grains a year was being used per person. These studies were made on a basis of population by Dr. T. S. Blair, chief of the Bureau of Drug Control, in an effort to ascertain what could be allowed on international sale and distribution.

The studies by Dr. Blair covered hospital cases and private practice, the hospital requirements being less than in private practice. It is stated "figures received from the active and competent doctors of the State show a per capita annual usage of approximately four grains."

The fact that Rev. J. S. Hartman, Cavetown, was chosen to head the delegation from the State of Maryland to the General Synod of the Reformed Church, which meets at Hickory, N. Hartman, who is proving in a very substantial way what can be done in country churches notwithstanding the fact that there is from time to time heard the statement that the country church is declining.

LANDIS WILL NOT ATTEND

Judge K. M. Landis, supreme commissioner of baseball will be unable to attend the annual meeting of the Blue Ridge League at Martinsburg tonight. It was learned Sunday night that other business will prevent Mr. Landis from being on hand.

It is not known as yet whether Ban B. Johnson, president of the American League, and John A. Heydler, president of the National League, will be on hand at the meeting.

KIMMICK SCORED RUN

Although out, Cincinnati took advantage of five errors and won the fourth game of the series with St. Louis, 5 to 4, Saturday. Heathcote's fumble of Kimmick's former Blue Ridge Leaguer, single in the fifth allowed the visiting second baseman to reach third and score the winning run.

It is just as well to let sleeping dogs lie. Even the under dog may put one over.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

BY STANLEY

was carried out with remarkable success, but not so this year.

The first thing contrary to custom this year was that the freshman banquet was held prior to the Sophomore affair. This happened unintentionally, according to members of the committee, on the strength of false rumors as to the Sophomore banquet date.

The freshmen added another feather to their cap when they succeeded in retaining safely every officer, committee-man and all but two of those on the program.

By noon on Monday, the lobby and front of the Hotel Gettysburg assumed the appearance of a dormitory. The fact that the banquet was to be held that evening was learned on Monday morning and a Sophomore class meeting was held at noon. From that time on every freshman that knew what to expect if he lingered about the campus by himself made his way to the Square and by the middle of the afternoon about fifty first year men congregated there.

In the meantime the Sophomores had been busy. Gathering up as many cars as possible they made their headquarters around the Chemistry laboratory on the campus and succeeded in kidnapping quite a number of freshmen, the most of whom it turned out later had not expected to come to the banquet. Approximately forty were captured in this manner and taken out to Black Hole along Marsh Creek where they were kept until about 9 o'clock in the evening when several succeeded in breaking away and others were released.

At seven o'clock center square assumed the aspect of a mob meeting in a Bolshevik town in Russia. A number of freshmen and a greater number of town boys got about twenty automobiles together and went out to Black Hole, but the Sophomores had been warned and had made their getaway. The expedition succeeded in getting a few freshmen back.

The banquet was scheduled for 9 o'clock and at that time seventy members of the yearling class were present, ready to eat. Waiting for W. W. Woods, football coach at college and one of the speakers, who incidentally was unable to attend the banquet because of domestic duties, caused the affair to be held up one half hour and at nine-thirty sharp, seventy freshmen were seated in the main dining room of the Hotel Gettysburg. From that time on until 10:30 o'clock, escaped and released freshmen came in until there were about one hundred and ten present—the largest number at a freshman banquet on record.

The dining room was decorated with orange and blue streamers and blue and white the prospective colors of the class. A picture of the function was taken after the meal. Favors of leather key cases with the new college seal and class numerals were given all present.

Edward Emanuel, president of the class, was toastmaster and Dr. Frank H. Kramer, of the college faculty, was the main speaker. He reviewed banquets and class spirit of the past in an interesting way and proved to be a very entertaining speaker. Other numbers furnished were "Harmony" by Scharf and his freshman orchestra, "He Calls it Music," by Yarnall; Free Verse, by Ray; and presentation of class numerals to the freshmen football and debating teams by "Ginger" Gingerich, one of the freshmen football coaches; and presentation of the victorious football used in the Freshmen-Sophomore game to Captain Horace Armor by "Ted" Smith, freshman backfield coach.

The officers of the freshmen class are: President, E. F. Emanuel; Vice President, F. E. Slaughter; Treasurer, A. E. Stiles; Secretary, C. B. Johnson; Historian, L. W. Evans. The Banquet Committee consisted of S. G. Williamson, Jr., chairman; Charles Buzard, Horace F. Amor, Carl E. Johnson, Henry M. Scharf, William J. McGoogan and Edward F. Emanuel.

AGAINST SUNDAY BASEBALL

Hanover Pastor Opposes Commercialized Sport On Sabbath.

During the course of his morning sermon Sunday the Rev. Dr. George W. Nicely, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church, Hanover, took a firm stand against commercialized Sunday baseball. Dr. Nicely referred to the stand of General Wu Pei Fu, whose forces several days ago captured the city of Peking, China, and who when asked by the people whether he would clear the race track outside the city for Sunday races replied that no civilized nation would permit races on Sunday. Dr. Nicely followed by expressing the sentiment that although he is a great friend of baseball and other field sports he believes that commercialized baseball on the Sabbath day is a demoralizing agent of wide effect.

FIREMEN MEET AT EAST BERLIN

held in McSherrystown this year and every company in the county has promised to attend and take part in the parade, most of the organizations will be accompanied by a band.

The next meeting of the County Firemen's Association will be held on Monday, July 3, at Fairfield.

The Rev. P. F. Sullivan, of Fairfield, was elected chaplain of the county organization. The By-Laws include a section relative to dues to the County Association and each company will pay according to their membership, the dues set at 25 cents a member. However it is understood that the companies and not the individuals are members of the county organization.

The collection taken at this meeting amounted to $20 and the treasurer announced that there is now $66 in the treasury, as they had recently received two donations totaling $25. The president of the Association is bound by the by-laws to grant equal representation on all committees. The duties of all the standing committees are also outlined in the regulations.

Following the business session, The Rev. P. F. Sullivan, of Fairfield, addressed the meeting on the value of co-operation between the fire companies of the county. The Rev. Ralph Baker, of Fairfield, followed with a short address.

J. William Morgan, assistant to the chief of the Bureau of Fire Protection, Department of State Police, was then introduced and spoke for a half hour on the good that can be accomplished by such an organization. He extended the aid of the various branches of his department to the new Association and then presented one hundred views of fire traps taken from various sections in the State.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, after which the visiting firemen were entertained at the engine house and refreshments in abundance were served.

Large delegations were also present from Fairfield, Biglerville, Bendersville, McSherrystown, Littlestown and Mt. Rock.

STATE BANK DEPOSITS GAIN

Increase of More Than $25,000,000 Made in Three Months.

Deposits in the 824 banking institutions coming under the supervision of the State Banking Department are shown to have risen to $1,674,443,540.46 by the summary of results of the call for statements as of April 4 just issued by Acting Commissioner of Banking John W. Morrison. Captain Morrison's figures show this to have been a gain of over $25,000,000 since the December 31 report. In the same period the number of depositors rose from 3,609,052 to 4,425,777.

The report covers 279 banks, 360 trust companies, ten savings banks, 112 private banks and sixty-three national banks, which are shown to have assets of $2,194,675,399.27, a gain of about $14,000,000 in three months. The assets of the trust companies are given at $1,459,077,939.14. The report on trust funds shows an aggregate of $1,930,936,474.67, a gain of $36,000,000. The trust companies have $1,914,493,588.80, the rest being divided between State and national banks handling such business.

447 FOREST FIRES IN STATE

Investigation Reveals Worst Case of Incendiarism.

State forest fire authorities, in running down reports about forest fires in Pennsylvania, have found what is believed to be the worst case of incendiarism ever known among forestry men. In the Welsh mountain region of Lancaster county a firebug kept about a quarter of a mile ahead of the men fighting fires and as fast as they put out one fire he would start another. Numerous cases of men starting fires and allowing them to get beyond bounds came to light, but the number of downright incendiary cases was small. There were at least 100 new fires on the first three days of this week, the majority of which cannot be accounted for. From January 1 to May 1 there were 447 woods fires in the State, burning over 11,000 acres, mostly of small extent. The two worst fires were in Lackawanna and Clinton counties.

36 Organizations Join in Fight to Restore Beer And Light Wines

G. C. HINKLEY

ALL WETS!

Varied and weird are the names of many of the wet organizations that have joined the drive for relaxation of the Volstead law. Typical of the nomenclature chosen for these groups are these: Order of Camels. Order of the Sphinx. Puppets League. Good Fellows of America. American Sporting League. Light Wine and Beer League. League of Rights. Free People's League. American Liberties League. The 1776 Society. The Sanity League. The Veterans of Liberty.

By Harry B. Hunt

Washington, May 9.—An assault in force is to be made on the present prohibition enforcement law at the congressional primaries and election this year.

Wet forces are organizing for one last determined effort to rescue beer and light wines.

The fight will be directed—not against the constitutional amendment but against the Volstead law, which defines what constitutes "intoxicating beverages."

Already the Anti-Saloon League has a list of 36 organizations formed avowedly for the purpose of assisting the beer and light wines campaign. Some of these are local in nature, others are organized on a state basis. Some half-dozen of them aspire to nation-wide scope.

Drive on Congress.

The plan of attack is to nominate at the primaries and put across at the November election, the greatest possible number of congressional candidates favorable to relaxing the restrictions of the enforcement law.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR STREET WORK IN GETTYSBURG, PENNA.

Gettysburg, Penna., May 6th, 1922.
Notice is hereby given that bids will be received at the Council Chamber, Gettysburg, Penna., for the improvement of the following described sections of streets in Gettysburg Borough, Adams County, Penna., on the 31st day of May, 1922, at 7:30 o'clock p. m., Standard Time.

Scaled bids shall be presented for the construction of Hanover street from the intersection of York street for two blocks, being approximately to the west side of Fourth street, approximately 35 feet in width, from present gutter line to present gutter line. Also of Washington street, from the south side of the Hospital entrance to the north side of alley in the rear of Elberhart Garage, being approximately four blocks in length, and of a width of approximately 25 feet. All of the above to be of Water Bound Macadam, six (6) inches in thickness before rolling. Work to be in accordance with the 1922 specifications of the Penna. State Highway Department, and to be paid for at a unit price per square yard for work complete, which work shall include all necessary excavation and the disposal of all material on streets and alleys in the Borough, within a distance of one-fourth (1/4) of a mile, as directed by the Borough Council. Also the construction of shoulders neatly graded from the edge of the macadam to the gutter line where deemed necessary. The profile of the finished work shall approximate the profile of the present streets, therefore the amount of the excavation will be approximately the volume of the macadam roadway.

The Borough reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and to increase or decrease the amount of paving contracted for to the extent of twenty five (25) per cent.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check in the amount of five hundred dollars ($500.00) and if the contract is awarded the successful bidder will be required to furnish a surety bond to guarantee the satisfac-

A four per cent beer, instead of the one-half of one per cent article now legal, is desired, and light, unfortified wines.

Of the three dozen organizations engaged in the campaign for the wets, the strongest and most widely organized is held to be the National Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

The headquarters of this organization occupies the whole floor of a Washington office building. Its head is William H. Stayton, a former naval officer, now president of the Baltimore Steamship Co., of Baltimore. Its membership list includes a long array of well-known names, and these are effectively used in campaigning for new members.

G. C. Hinkley, secretary of this organization, in charge of the Washington activities, says the work of extending state and local branches is now in full swing and is being pushed in order to be in position for the most effective work in the congressional campaign.

"The sale of light wines and beer can be permitted within the terms of the eighteenth amendment," said Hinkley. "All that is necessary is to have Congress re-define an intoxicating beverage."

"It is of first importance that we grow to the point where we can say to Congress and to politicians generally that we represent a very large body of American voters. It now seems likely that we will reach the million mark within the next few months. When that number of members has been attained, we can repeat the Volstead law."

"We have recently added a department the function of which is to sound out and record the views of men in public life—including senators, congressmen and all candidates for office—on the subject of prohibition. This information will be published broadcast, so that no voter need be in doubt as to the prohibition views of those who seek his support."

"We have now gotten to the point where many senators and congressmen are in favor of modification of the Volstead law."

100 Moist Members

Hinkley estimates that the campaign now under way will add 100 members to Congress favorable to relaxing the beer and wine prohibition. That number, he says, in addition to present members favorable to the change would put it across.

While the campaign is to be stressed this year as a fight for amendment of the Volstead law, that is only the first in the organization's full program.

"Our original object, which must not be lost sight of," says Hinkley, "is the removal of the eighteenth amendment from the constitution."

Finances for the wet fight, the organization heads insist, are derived from membership fees and "contributions." The total to be expended, through national, state and local units, will run into the millions.

CARE OF DAIRY HERDS

Profit Made In Spite Of Decline In Milk Prices.

"Weed, feed and breed" should be the present-day slogan of Adams county dairy farmers who wish to make a profit in spite of a decline in the price of milk. County Agent Paul Hoffman announces some interesting results from recent cow testing association operations compiled by Pennsylvania State College dairy extension men. They show that herds that were producing milk at a profit three years ago, are still doing it despite the big drop in the price. The weeding out of boarder cows, the application of proper feeding methods and attention to breeding, have enabled them to do it. The secret is an increase from an average of 6000 pounds of milk per cow in a year to 8000 pounds per cow, in the testing associations cited, during the period from 1918 to 1921.

It is the cow that is producing more than 6500 pounds of milk or 250 pounds of butter fat in a year that has proved to be a salvation to the milk producer during the past year of economic readjustment. A comparison of high producing with low producing herds illustrates this point. In one the average production per cow was 8240 pounds milk and 297 pounds of butterfat, the net cost to produce 100 pounds of milk being $1.98, and fifty-five cents for a pound of butterfat. In the lower producing herd the milk amounted to 4618 pounds and 188 pounds for the butter fat cow, the milk costing $2.44 per hundredweight and the butterfat fifty-nine cents a pound.

BEEF PRODUCTION IN STATE

"That new beef cattle barn at State College is going to mark the beginning of a new era for beef production in Pennsylvania," said County Agent Hoffman in discussing the expected growth of the agricultural school at the Pennsylvania State College and the breaking of ground last week for the barn. "Years ago, before the cheap lands of the west began to produce large amounts of beef cattle, Pennsylvania was a great beef state. But now things are evening up again, and it not only costs more than before to raise beef in the west, but the advantage of shipping rates lies with the home producer. Pennsylvania feeders have the advantage of good markets near home and the college with its new equipment will be in a position to give more and more assistance to them each year. With very little money to work with, the college people have already seen to it that the feeding question to suit Pennsylvania crops and conditions is being solved. The future for livestock in Pennsylvania certainly looks bright."

CONVICTS MUTINY

Armed With Knives They Attempt to Burn Factory.

Columbia, S. C., May 9—A mutiny of 150 convicts in the State penitentiary yesterday was quieted after eleven of the mutineers had been wounded by penitentiary guards and city police, two of them being perhaps fatally shot.

Attempt to Burn Factory

The fire chief said the disorder started when a group of prisoners, starting from lunch in the main diningroom, attacked the guards who were escorting them.

An attempt by the convicts to burn the penitentiary chair factory failed.

The outbreak came after the dinner hour. The prisoners were sullen, it is said, because they had been ordered to turn in what civilian clothes and other articles they had which were not needed by them in prison. Through certain apparent leaders they defied the authorities and announced they would not return to work. Aid was asked of the city authorities by the telephone.

Armed With Knives

No effort was made to coerce the prisoners pending the arrival of reinforcements from the city. In the meantime, the mutineers stood in the penitentiary yard, armed with sticks and knives obtained from the chair factory.

Upon the arrival of the detachment of city police the mob of prisoners surged toward the little group of blue-coated officers, cursing, snarling and threatening. A volley from riot guns met them, and eleven men dropped. The remainder broke and tried to run. They were rounded up without further trouble.

SUPERINTENDENT RESIGNS

In an unofficial manner, it was reported Monday morning that Prof. S. M. Neagley, of Leeburg, Pa., recently elected to the Superintendency of the Hanover public schools, has decided to relinquish the position. It is understood his formal resignation will be forwarded to the Secretary of the Board within the next day or so.

Prof. Neagley promises to justify his action later, giving his formal reasons for his resignation. It is possible Prof. Neagley will again become identified with the Leeburg schools, which were loath to see him leave.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feed young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

YORK FIRE CHIEF DEAD

George S. Kroll Died At Home In That City.

Fire Chief George S. Kroll died Sunday morning at 5:45 o'clock at his residence, in York. Death followed an illness of four months, the last week of which the fight for life was regarded by doctors as hopeless. In the death of Chief Kroll, York loses, within a period of one week, its second public official. He was in his fifty-second year.

The illness which finally claimed the fire chief's life, dates back to a period prior to Christmas, 1921.

Surviving the deceased are his wife, Catherine Kroll; two children, Edward W., and Catherine, both at home; and one brother, Edward H., of York city.

Funeral held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock with solemn requiem high mass at St. Mary's Catholic church. Father George J. Breckel celebrant; Father A. Wittmann deacon, and Father H. J. Howarth sub-deacon. Burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

Fire Chief George Kroll was widely associated fraternally in York county and was prominent in state firemen circles for many years. In view of his prominence, representatives of the state fire marshalls' office, the Pennsylvania State Firemen's association, Reading, Harrisburg and other nearby cities, will pay their last respects at the funeral.

The deceased was first made fire chief of the York Volunteer fire department on April 17, 1908. He continued in this capacity until March 23,

Be Sure Your Ice Box is Not Too Small

If your family has grown you may need a larger box. It won't consume any more ice. It is not the size of your box so much as the quantity of food in it which eats up ice. Crowding a small one full of exposed food will melt ice rapidly and give you poor refrigeration.

THE WAY TO SAVE ICE

is to have enough of it in the ice chamber to keep the temperature low. Then its melts slowly and the food keeps well. Too small an ice box is wasteful, indeed.

We do not sell ice boxes. Your hardware or furniture dealer can supply you with just the size you need.

UZZIAH'S PRIDE AND PUNISHMENT.

LESSON TEXT.—II Chron. 26:1-21.
GOLDEN TEXT.—Pride goeth before destruction and an haughty spirit before a fall.—Prov. 16:18.
REFERENCE MATERIAL.—Num. 12:1-15; Deut. 32:1-4; II Kings 5:20-27; Dan. 4:28-32.
PRIMARY TOPIC.—The Story of a Proud King.
JUNIOR TOPIC.—A Man Who Forgot God.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC.—"Pride Goeth Before Destruction."
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC.—The Perils of Prosperity.

1. Uzziah Made King (vv. 1-5).
1. His Age (v. 1). He became king at the age of sixteen.

2. Length of His Reign (v. 3). He reigned fifty-two years. His mother's name was Jecoliah, which means "Jehovah is able," or "Made strong of Jehovah."

3. His Character (v. 4). He did that which was right in the sight of the Lord.

4. His Prosperity (v. 5). He definitely sought God while Zechariah lived, and because he sought him God made him to prosper as long as he continued to seek him. He, like Josiah before him, turned aside when the influence of the man of God was removed.

II. Uzziah's Achievement (vv. 6-15).

1. He Built Elath (v. 2). This was a port on the Red sea which had been lost to Judah. No doubt it was the aim of the father to get possession of this port, so the son makes its restoration his first duty. It was an important trading point and the commercial interests of the nation would be greatly increased by its possession.

2. He Had Military Success (vv. 6-8). (1) He conquered the Philistines (v. 6). After subduing them he dismantled their fortified cities and built new cities in their stead. (2) He defeated the Arabians (v. 7). (3) He made the Ammonites across the Jordan pay tribute (v. 8).

3. He Fortified Jerusalem (vv. 9-15).—He took advantage of the peace which was now enjoyed because of the subjugation of his enemies to fortify Jerusalem. He placed in the towers great engines of war for hurling stones.

4. His Civic Improvements (v. 10). In the regions south and west of Jerusalem he built towers which served a threefold purpose, namely: observation, defense and shelter for his cattle. This enabled him to carry on his stock-raising enterprises.

5. His Army (vv. 11-15). It numbered 307,500. It was thoroughly equipped and drilled. God was with him, and his fame spread far and wide. The source of his strength was God.

III. Uzziah's Transgression (vv. 16-18).

The prosperity bestowed upon him by the Lord was too much for him—his heart was lifted up with pride. This is always so unless counteracted by divine grace. In his pride he presumptuously intruded into the priest's office. This act was not because of forgetfulness, but of deliberate purpose. Azariah and eighty other priests remonstrated with him, but this only made him angry. This act was a trespass against God.

IV. Uzziah's Punishment (vv. 19-21).

While raging in his wrath and about to burn incense he was smitten with leprosy, a dreadful, incurable and unclean disease. This judgment came upon him as a consequence of his overweening pride and vanity. He was thrust out of the sanctuary—excluded from God's house. Indeed, his own conscience smote him, and he hurriedly went out because he knew that the Lord had smitten him. He not only was excluded from the place of worship, but was dethroned. His son Jotham was made regent. His judgment was:

1. Sudden. The Lord smote him while attired as priest, with censer in hand. Frequently God's judgments are speedy. 2. Severe. The leprosy broke forth upon his forehead. The same judgment befell Miriam for speaking against Moses (Num. 12:10), and Gehazi for lying to Elisha (II Kings 5:27). Great sins demand severe punishment. 3. Conspicuous. Azariah and all the priests looked up and beheld the leprosy (v. 20). The spot on Uzziah's forehead proclaimed him as the object of God's wrath. How many today are bearing about the marks of sin—God's judgment! 4. Humiliating. He was henceforth unclean—cut off from the congregation. This is what sin always does. 5. Fatal. It ended in death. "The wages of sin is death" (Rom. 6:23).

Cause and Upholder.

God alone . . . is in Himself, and is the Cause and Upholder of everything to which He has given being.—Pusey.

Praise the Lord.

Oh, that men would praise the Lord for His goodness and for His wonderful works to the children of men!—Bible.

The Blockhead.

A blockhead cannot come in nor go away, nor sit, nor rise, nor stand, like a man of sense.—Bruyere.

Blobbs—"Young Saphedde prides himself upon being well balanced."

Slobbs—"Is that why he parts his hair in the middle?"
